Evolution of an Industry

Around half of all global shipments currently go uninsured, why?

- Current insurance solutions offer little to no flexibility for shippers
- Upfront annual fees based on estimates
- Slow processes for per shipment bookings
- High administrative load from manual claims handling
- Inefficiencies and lack of flexibility from restricted commodity types and poor technological solutions
- Fractured customer journey

Innovative Solution

Modernizing the acquisition of insurance

- In collaboration with ERGO's underwriting, Redkik's software, and the CUBEforall platform, we are bringing the first of its kind transactional insurance solution to the market which allows coverage to be purchased in a matter of seconds.
- This innovative solution allows coverage to be purchased at the point of booking the shipment.

- The software utilizes AI and machine learning algorithms which process data from multiple different sources to offer customized quotes, and to ensure the customer only pays for what they need.
- The solution gives shippers flexibility for their evolving needs and saves them time to focus on their core business.
- With this collaborative solution, premium per-shipment coverage becomes cost-effective and saves time.

Changing the way you think about insurance

Instant Premium
Quotes

Improved Customer Journey
For Acquisition of Insurance

Cost-effective and
Time-saving

- With this partnership, the CUBEforall network can effortlessly access premium per-shipment quotations from ERGO.
- Through the API integration, we modernized the customer journey by removing the need to re-key shipment information on an external platform.
- With innovative collaboration – there finally is a flexible and cost-effective per-shipment coverage that you actually want to purchase.
- With this transformative collaboration, we are changing the way you think about insurance.
